NATIVE AMERICAN ICONS

RED FOX JAMES,
Blackfoot Native American

Before a day was nationally recognized, Red Fox James rode horseback from state to state seeking approval for a day to honor Native Americans. He presented endorsements of 24 state governments at the White House in December 1915.

MILDRED LOVING

Mildred Loving, who was of African American and Native American descent, successfully challenged Virginia's ban on interracial marriage in the 1960s. Mildred married Richard Loving, a white man, violating Virginia's Racial Integrity Act. In a Supreme Court case with the assistance of the American Civil Liberties Union, the court held that Virginia's anti-miscegenation statute violated both the Equal Protection Clause and Due Process Clause of the Fourteenth Amendment.

An unofficial holiday celebrates Mildred and Richard's triumph and multiculturalism, called Loving Day, on June 12.

HONOR THROUGH EDUCATION

THE STORY OF THANKSGIVING

Being the same month as Thanksgiving, this is an appropriate time to learn Thanksgiving history from the perspective of Native Americans and how their knowledge greatly shaped our world.
